

COONEEN

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Date: 1st June 2004

Cooneen Textiles Ltd is committed to positive environmental practice as an integral part of its corporate citizenship.

Cooneen Textiles recognises that it impacts on the environment directly through the consumption of energy and other resources used in its daily operations and indirectly through its global supply chain. Cooneen Textiles Ltd is committed to the protection of the environment and to minimising the impact of its operations through a programme of continuous improvement. In particular Cooneen Textiles Ltd will: -

- Meet or exceed all relevant environmental legislation and other requirements.
- Accept a responsibility for contributing to the protection of the environment and strive to ensure that our actions will not detract from the long-term sustainability of environmental resources.
- Assess and improve the impact of our actions on the environment in our daily operations and strategic planning.
- Design energy efficiency into new services, buildings, products and processes, and manage energy efficiency across all operations.
- Strive to reduce the consumption of materials and energy and use renewable or recyclable materials where possible.
- Minimise pollution in all its forms.
- Consult with our suppliers to improve the environmental impact of goods and services provided to Cooneen Textiles Ltd.
- Incorporate environment issues in Cooneen Textiles training programmes and promote advantageous environmental practices through all staff.
- Promote positive environmental practice through our support for relevant external groups and organisations.
- Incorporate environmental impacts in our investment decisions.
- Monitor progress and keep customers, shareholders and employees informed of such.
